LEFT VICTIM ON ROAD DYING; GIVEN 5 YEARS

Farmville Jury Awards Maximum Penalty in Fatal Auto Accident Case.

GRATS CROWDS AT COURT
 Trial of Negro Who Ran Down and Killed Herbert Pillow in Prince Edward, in July, Then Burning Away, Brought to Conclusion.

FARMVILLE, VA., Dec. 6.—James Carey, colored, was found guilty of manslaughter and given a five-year term in the penitentiary this afternoon by a jury here in connection with the death of Herbert Pillow, a white boy, 15 years old.

The crime occurred July 29, when Carey ran over Pillow, while speeding a car on the concrete road near Farmville.

The boy's body was terribly mangled and he expired a few minutes after being brought into a doctor's office in town.

Leaves Victim on Road.
 The negro rode his escape next day from town, and eluded the law until about two months afterwards, when he returned to Farmville and gave himself up to the police authorities.

The negro was indicted for murder, but was convicted on the charge of involuntary manslaughter.

After being out on the jury for an hour, the jury returned a verdict, fixing the punishment at five years in the penitentiary, the maximum punishment.

The case attracted wide attention, people coming from all the adjoining counties, the courtroom was packed to its capacity.

During the trial the Normal School girls were allowed special privilege of attending, as well as the students from the Farmville High School.

Sentiment Against Prisoner.
 Despite the fact that feeling ran high throughout the county at the time the crime was committed, on account of the manner in which the negro treated his victim, in that he never stopped his car after the accident occurred, but kept on his way, the trial was attended with perfect order and quiet.

The trial began yesterday and was completed at a late hour this afternoon.

U. S. DISTRICT COURT HOLDS LONG SESSIONS
 (Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
 HARRISONBURG, VA., Dec. 6.—The United States District Court for the Western District of Virginia last night closed the longest session held here in recent years, when Judge Henry C. McDowell adjourned the November term at the close of a night session.

Fifteen indictments were returned by the grand jury on the opening day, Tuesday, November 29, eleven of which were for alleged violation of the Volstead prohibition enforcement law. Three of the defendants pleaded not guilty and two were acquitted by jury, and one case was held over for the next term when the jury failed to agree on a verdict.

Judge McDowell sentenced one man who pleaded guilty to a charge of moonshining to serve three months in jail, two were sentenced to serve all sentences of two months each, and one to serve a term of one month. In addition, one moonshiner was fined $200 by the court, one $250, and a third was dismissed with a fine of $10. No jail sentences were imposed on these fined.

Four days of the term were occupied with hearing of cases on the civil docket, two important cases being tried. One was that of John W. Mims, Luray, Va., hotel proprietor, against Leigh W. Reid, of Haverford, Pa., in which the plaintiff asked $10,000 alleged commission for negotiating the sale of manganese land in Page County, Va. The jury awarded him $6,000. Counsel for the defendant moved that the verdict be set aside, which motion the court took under advisement.

FARMER KILLS DOG, BUT PAYS $75 FINE
 (Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
 CHARLOTTESVILLE, VA., Dec. 6.—Tried before Justice Claude R. Tardley on the charge of shooting an English setter, the property of Woods Stockton, a leading farmer of the county, Theodore Rose, of near Rio, was found guilty and assessed a total fine of $75, of which $50 was for the killing and $25 for cruelty in that the dog was thrown into a creek.

It was brought out in the evidence that the dog, which was a thoroughly trained hunter, had strayed on the property of Mr. Rose, on Thanksgiving Day, and he contended that the dog growled at him when being driven away, but there was no evidence that the dog was vicious or liable to attack any one.

The trial attracted considerable interest among owners of hunting dogs.

Catawba Patients Start Fund for Medical Martyr

CATAWBA SANATORIUM, VA., Dec. 6.—As a tribute to the memory of Dr. B. L. Tallaferrro, who recently added his name to the list of medical martyrs, the patients at Catawba have decided to add to the tuberculosis foundation of Virginia a Tallaferrro Memorial Fund, which will provide in perpetuity a free bed at the institution to which the noble physician sacrificed his life.

A committee of the Catawba patients has started on a campaign to raise $5,000, the amount needed for the endowment. They and their friends have, in addition to direct contributions, advanced all the money necessary for continuing expenses in connection with the subscription, so that every dollar subscribed actually goes into the fund.

Since the sum wanted is comparatively small the committee feels sure that no intensive solicitation will be necessary. It is not purposed to make any general appeal for funds, although some people known to be interested in tuberculosis work may be asked to make a small donation.

It is felt that the general public will be glad to subscribe and that a mention of the subject through the press will be all that is needed.

Checks may be sent to A. Lambert Martin, treasurer, at Catawba Sanatorium, and a receipt will be returned immediately.

APOSTLES NUMEROUS; MORE ACTS VITAL NEED

"Gypsy" Smith Preaches Eloquent Sermon to Norfolk Church Officers.

NORFOLK, VA., Dec. 6.—"It was one of the best meetings of the campaign," said Gypsy Smith, as he concluded his sermon last night to the officers of probably two-thirds of the churches of the city.

Mr. Smith's sermon was an eloquent plea for greater work among the churches of the city.

"We've got lots of Apostles now," he said. "What we need is more 'Acts'."

Mr. Smith told of the cruel trials imposed on a pastor whose official boards refused to be interested in the work of their churches and the salvation of souls.

"The church of God is the medium through which the spirit of God works," he said. "Don't insult the spirit. Give God a chance in his own churches."

"The success of the church of God in this world depends just as much upon the work of the church officers as it does upon the work of the ministers."

Mr. Smith related some of his personal experiences as a pastor in a church in England during his young manhood. He had a church of his own four years and the membership included 5,000 people, he said.

"In that congregation," said Mr. Smith, "there were 2,500 people that I could depend on day or night, to do a bit of work for God. They were ready at an instant's notice. These men and women had the church spirit; they were filled with the Holy Ghost."

"And you don't know Jesus till you know the Holy Ghost," Mr. Smith made a bitter attack on the new religious service, "Why," he said, "in religious service, now, we have style—style! The Lord help us!"

Mr. Smith's sermon was one of the strongest he has preached during his campaign thus far. To use his own phrase he was "saying things that the preachers in the churches would like to say."

Gets Nearly 9 Years' Prison Sentences.
 SPOTSVYLVANIA, VA., Dec. 6.—Seven indictments were returned today against Linton Coleman, two for housebreaking and five for misdemeanors.

The accused pleaded guilty to all the indictments and put himself upon the court for trial, whereupon the court sentenced the accused to seven years' confinement in the penitentiary for housebreaking and shooting a horse, and eighteen months' work on the public highway for three misdemeanor offenses. A number of indictments were returned for violations of the prohibition law.

INFATUATED WOMAN ATTEMPTS TO KILL MAN

Near-Tragedy Staged in Front of Norfolk Police Court Building.

NORFOLK, VA., Dec. 6.—Madly in love with the man for whom she once attempted suicide and enraged because he had neglected her for more than a week, Mrs. Nora Jackson, 21 years old, this morning staged a near-tragedy in front of Police Court when she drew a pistol and attempted to shoot Joe L. White.

She pulled the trigger, but White had been alert enough to grab the weapon, and when the hammer fell it caught his thumb between that and the chamber, which was filled with cartridges. Before further damage could be done the pistol was wrested from Mrs. Jackson's grasp and she was placed under arrest.

It was the same pistol with which she shot herself nine months ago as a result of a quarrel with White, she said at the time.

Mrs. Jackson was at court to testify against White, who had been arrested on a warrant sworn out by her charging assault. With her mother, Mrs. E. T. Allen, she was standing on the sidewalk, while White, with his hands cuffed, was being taken to the jail.

White said he wanted to talk to Mrs. Jackson's mother, who was White's own wishes. White agreed to see her when urged to do so by the lawyer.

As White reached the young woman she jerked the pistol from her cloak pocket and aimed it at White's heart. As if anticipating such action, the man she was there to prosecute grabbed the weapon just as she pulled the trigger. It failed to explode because the hammer had fallen on his thumb.

Andrew Stephens, inspector of the health department, and Detective W. J. Williams, who were standing near, jumped to the rescue of White and succeeded in wresting the pistol from Mrs. Jackson's grasp. She was taken into headquarters by Sergeant Moore and Detectives Luck and Williams and collapsed as charges of carrying a concealed weapon and attempting to shoot J. L. White were entered against her by Desk Sergeant Pizzini.

Because of the condition of Mrs. Jackson the case against White was continued by Justice Simmons until tomorrow, when Mrs. Jackson also will be arraigned.

NORFOLK IN AIR OVER SITE FOR FORD PLANT

Water Front in Vicinity of East Camp of Naval Base Possible Location.

NORFOLK, VA., Dec. 6.—With doubts rapidly vanishing as to the probability of Henry Ford's intention to establish a plant for assembling automobiles for export, speculation in the business district today centered on probable locations for the factory.

Waterfront property in the vicinity of East Camp of the naval base is mentioned as one of the tracts to which Mr. Ford's engineers on a recent visit here paid particular attention.

Whether it would be placed in Norfolk or Berkeley or on the Portsmouth side of the river were questions uppermost in the minds of those who were thinking over the possibilities wrapped up in the announcement that Mr. Ford intended to place a plant here.

In view of the fact that his products would have to be shipped from Detroit over either the Virginia or the Norfolk and Western it is believed that a site on one of those lines or else on the Belt Line is essential and that waterfront property would also have to be secured.

But that belief has not been followed by any indications that the motor magnate has actually decided on a point to locate his plant, and it is considered a tribute to the astuteness of Mr. Ford that he has been able to shield any movements he may have made in secrecy despite the fact that the number of available sites are relatively few.

Dispatches from Nashville, Tenn., where Mr. Ford was yesterday, said that he had just returned from a visit to Norfolk, and that he had confirmed the plan to put a plant at Norfolk, but that he let it be distinctly understood that he was not denying his intention to do so.

Mr. Ford said that his engineers have been investigating the proposal to put a plant at Norfolk, and that they probably made their decision in favor of this city on account of the low freight rates which he would make.

Virginia Woman Owns Peace Pipe Foch Used
 (Special to The Times-Dispatch.)
 WINCHESTER, VA., Dec. 6.—The "pipe of peace" smoked recently at Crow Agency, Mont., by Marshal Foch and Chief Plenty Coups is owned by a Winchester woman, Mrs. A. Garrett Carter, formerly Miss Charlotte Gonner, now living at Crow Agency, according to word received here today.

It is described as being a long and handsomely decorated ceremonial pipe of red stone from Pipestone, Minn. The stone is said to be soft and easily carved when first quarried, but hardens when exposed to the air. The plains tribes were said to have held the quarry as neutral ground, taking turns in securing their pipe material. A tribe finding its enemies at the quarry would camp at a distance until the first-comers had gone.

Among those attending the recent ceremony at Crow Agency were Mr. and Mrs. Carter, her mother, Mrs. Mary Conner, and the latter's son-in-law and other daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hoover, of Winchester.

A shower of gifts for the poor children of the community. The Christmas tree will be erected on the public square and on Christmas Eve there will be carols and a real Santa Claus to hand out the goodies, candies and toys.

What kind of gasoline do traveling salesmen buy?

DRUMMERS who make dozens of calls a day, who drive further every week than most of us do in a month, know a lot about the efficiency and economy of different motor fuels. They nearly always ask for "Standard" Motor Gasoline.

This balanced gasoline gives quick starts, even when the motor has become chilled. It burns up completely, doesn't quickly choke the motor with carbon or ruin the lubricating oil with carbon and unburned gasoline. It runs the motor on a lean mixture and gives big mileage per gallon.

"Standard" Motor Gasoline leads the procession in all these essential qualities. It is the most perfectly balanced motor fuel we know of—the result of innumerable tests for economy and efficiency, perfected refining processes and the choice of the most suitable crudes.

In cold weather or hot, when it's dry and frosty, wet and muddy or hot and sunny, you'll travel the road more smoothly and get further on a gallon. And with less carbon trouble. You won't have to constantly adjust your carburetor. That's why city and country salesmen use balanced "Standard" Motor Gasoline.

You, too, want the best for your money. The best is "Standard" Motor Gasoline. Try it on your next filling. See how lively and powerful your car is, how promptly it starts, how easily it takes hard hills, how far you go on a gallon. One quality wherever you buy it, and for sale everywhere.

Protect the moving parts of your car. Polarine is the great friction remover.
